

The International Institute for Child Rights & Development (IICRD)

2007 Training Child Rights in Practice: Tools for Social Change

Draft Agenda

February 25th – March 2nd, 2007
University of Victoria's Dunsmuir Lodge
Sidney, British Columbia (near Victoria)

Since 1994, IICRD has developed the foundations of a practical and culturally grounded approach to children's rights that makes a positive difference in children's lives. Our approach respects the natural resilience of children, as well as their families, communities and cultures. IICRD puts its approach into action with tools that use a Child Rights Ecology grounded in the universally endorsed UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) and build on the strengths of children and their lives.

This training will help build international, national and local expertise in children's rights by:

- Exploring IICRD's child centred and strength-based child rights models, strategies and tools;
- Sharing international and local child rights experiences and practices;
- Working with participants to integrate child rights approaches and tools into existing program and child policy development; and
- Building stronger networks of child centred specialists and youth.

Read on for a sneak preview of the training agenda and a list of current international and local presenters that will be joining us.

Please note that all training days will draw on the experience of the participants and contain a mixture of formats including plenary presentations, experiential activities, workshops/group activities and discussion.
